RDP Parent Night

RDP often has the opportunity to visit students, but we feel it's equally important to communicate with parents. For this reason, we are offering an information session for parents to attend along with their high school students.

This will take place on Thursday, October 16 from 7-8pm at Red Deer Polytechnic. We will discuss program options including trades, the registration process, funding, scholarships and important dates and deadlines. Please share this information with your students and school community. Registration is requested. The registration QR code is available in the attachment. Seating is limited

Literacy Corner

I want ALL the cozy autumn reads that make me feel the chill in the air, hear the crunch of the leaves and smell Fall in all its goodness — you KNOW that crisp autumn smell. These are some great reads! Check out some of these in Mrs. Rankin's Library!!

Indigenous Education

Cynthia Leitch Smith grew up in the Kansas City area and has loved writing since she was a kid! She started out as a poet and a news reporter in elementary school and even became the editor of her school newspaper as a teenager. Now, Cynthia is a writing teacher and an author who creates books for kids. She also helps other authors share their stories with the world. As a citizen of the Muscogee Nation, an Indigenous Nation in Oklahoma, she brings her culture and heritage into her work.

A collection of intersecting stories and poems set at a powwow that bursts with hope, joy, resilience, the strength of community, and Native pride.
